

THE WORLD OF THE LIVING SERIES

The Yoga of Dreaming

with Ron Young

June 30 - July 2 and July 7-9, 2023
 Dreamwork for Americas and Europe

This six day immersion will lead us to deeply explore the daily awakening normally called Dreaming. Each night when you place your material body into the state of rest, cleansing, and regeneration commonly called "Sleep," you step out of the confinement of the shuttered earthbound consciousness you experience in what you call, "My life in time and space."

Placing the material body to sleep, each night we awaken within our superconscious nature.

Opening in self knowing, direct perception, active investigation, and immediate insight.

We will explore the creative movements of our superconscious mind through its wisdom-compassion emanation and its power to assist in guiding, teaching, reorganizing, healing, and experimenting with new possible outcomes calling forth new futures both in service to the individual and in service to the world in which we live on earth.

The World of the Living Series

This training gives the foundation to surrender ownership of the accumulated experiences that you refer to as "yourself," revealing the greater spiritual nature within where there is no ownership— only the revelation of your Nature in Creation.

As long as you own yourself, you will continue to refer to yourself as such and such a person, who was born in a certain time, at a certain place, of certain parents.

As long as you own yourself, you will think in terms of the family, community, and your native country culture.

As long as you own yourself, you will speak a certain language and live according to what you have been taught is correct from within your community.

As long as you own yourself, you will focus upon your suffering and the suffering of the world you live in. The suffering of others will be a distant and in many ways meaningless thing, as the attention and preference regarding living and suffering will be given to what you know and experience in your daily living.

When you have been born into your Nature in Creation and have entered the World of the Living, you will find yourself holding all of the life forms in this universe in equality, with compassion, and will speak the language of Divine Love.

It is the Nature of the Living and the Nature of the Heart of Compassion to hold and embrace all life and all suffering. For having stepped out of the ownership of self-images, personality and the material form, one becomes not a citizen of a country, or the world, but of the Universe.

From within our Nature, we are the living wisdom of Self-knowledge, emanating Compassion-Wisdom-Power. In this place of Beingness, there is no separation one from the other, there is no greater suffering one from the other, and there is no greater cause one from the other. We stand within the birthing fully interdependent of their existence, as they are each manifesting as equality, insight and direct knowing.
